Preface

Previous to the year 1873 it was the custom of this University to issue Triennial Catalogues which contained the names of the alumni and honorary graduates printed in Latin. Realizing the need of more extended and practical information, the authorities made an effort to supply this need by printing the catalogue of 1873 in English, and by giving certain items of general interest concerning each alumnus. Although the information therein contained was necessarily meager, the impracticability of issuing such a volume every three years was evident; and hence for the next catalogue, which was issued in 1879, the name "General Catalogue" was substituted for that of "Triennial Catalogue." The next General Catalogue was published in 1900 and was the first to include extensive biographical information. Prior to that time, however, two "Directories" were issued, one in 1887 and the other in 1895, both of which assumed to give only the names and addresses of the officers and graduates of the institution. Since 1900 three address lists of living alumni have been issued—in 1905, 1908 and 1909. The issues of 1908 and 1909 included also the addresses of non-graduate former students, so far as these were attainable.

This General Catalogue, like that of 1900, aims to present a complete list of all officers and graduates of the University, together with a clear and succinct record of all graduates from the time of entering college; and in addition, as full information as has been obtainable has been included for former students who did not graduate. These non-graduates are to be found under the classes of which they were members, but their names appear in a separate alphabet, and in slightly different type. This record, in its complete form, is intended to comprise the following items: full name with academic degrees, when and where conferred; college record, including fraternity membership, Phi Beta Kappa and prizes; personal history; honors, civil or military; membership in learned societies; publications; biographical references; address of the living, or time and place of birth and death of the deceased.

In 1900 women were admitted as full students. This catalogue accordingly includes records for women students, graduates and non-graduates, similar to the records for men. The women's catalogue follows that for the men, and will be found on pages 149 to 156.

It is understood that all degrees herein mentioned were conferred by The University of Rochester unless otherwise specified.

The Greek-letter fraternities at Rochester were established in the following order: Alpha Delta Phi, 1851; Iota chapter of Delta Psi, 1851; Delta Upsilon, 1852; Beta Phi chapter of Delta Kappa Epsilon, 1858; Upsilon chapter of Psi Upsilon, 1858; Chi Chapter of Theta Delta Chi, 1867; Beta chapter of Phi Kappa Alpha, 1874; Alpha Omega chapter of Chi Psi, 1884. The Photoepian society was founded in 1884; its name was changed to Phi Epsilon in 1904.

The New York Iota chapter of Phi Beta Kappa was established at Rochester in 1887. Some members, however, of classes which had been graduated previous to that year were elected to membership in the chapter after it had been established; hence the reference to Phi Beta Kappa among the earlier classes.

No attempt has been made in the body of the catalogue to give any further description of prizes than is expressed by the name of the prize itself. In some instances this is so inadequate that it has been deemed advisable to insert here a more extended description of these prizes in the order of their establishment:

Senior Essay Prize: established in 1854 and continued until 1881, when it was permanently endowed by Rev. Robert Bruce Hull, of the class of 1871, and has since been known as the Hull Essay Prize.

Junior Greek Prize: established in 1856; last award made in 1886.

Sophomore Latin Prize: established in 1856; last award made in 1886.

Sophomore Declamation Prize: established in 1856 and continued under the above name until 1869, when it was permanently endowed by the Rev. Dr. Beadle in honor of his life-long friend, Dr. Chester Dewey, and has since been known as the Dewey Declamation Prize.

Freshman Mathematical Prize: established in 1856; last award made in 1886.

Freshman Greek Prize: awarded in 1862 and 1863.

Junior Logic Prize: awarded in 1863.

Davis Prize Medals: endowed by the Hon. Isaac Davis, LL. D., in 1865, for the purpose of encouraging oratory, and awarded to the two members of the senior class whose orations at Commencement exhibit, respectively, the first and second grades of excellence in thought, composition and delivery combined.

Stoddard Prize Medal: endowed by Professor John P. Stoddard in 1869, for the purpose of encouraging work in Physics and Mathematics, and awarded to the men in the senior class who exhibit the highest proficiency in these subjects.

Sherman Scholarship: a graduate scholarship in the department of Political Economy, endowed by Mr. Isaac Sherman, of New York; it has been granted to the man in the senior class who, being properly qualified has passed the best examination upon some selected work in the French or the German language upon a subject in Economics; the successful competitor has received one hundred dollars at graduation, and an additional sum of one hundred and fifty dollars if, within two years after graduation, he has presented a satisfactory thesis upon some specially assigned topic in Economics.

Townsend Scholarship: a graduate scholarship in Political History and Constitutional Law founded by John Pomeroy Townsend, LL. D., in 1876, and supported by him until his death in 1898, when his son, Mr. Charles John Townsend, A. M., of the class of 1879, permanently endowed it; it has been granted to the man in the senior class, who, being properly qualified, passes the best examination upon some selected work in the German or the French language upon a subject in Politics or Constitutional Law; the successful competitor has received one hundred dollars at graduation, and an additional sum of one hundred and fifty dollars if, within two years after graduation, he has presented a satisfactory thesis upon some specially assigned topic in Politics or Constitutional Law.

Elizabeth M. Anderson Prize: endowed in 1891 by William Wallace Gilbert, of the class of 1861, and Charles Miller Williams, of the class of 1871, and awarded to the member of the senior class who shows the highest proficiency in some subject connected with Art.

Colonial Dames Prize: offered annually since 1899, by the Society of Colonial Dames of the State of New York, and awarded to the member of the senior class who presents the best essay upon an assigned subject connected with American colonial history.

The Alling Prizes: offered annually since 1901 by Mr. Joseph T. Alling, 1876, for excellence in public debate, as shown in competition between the men of the junior and senior classes.

The N. B. Ellison Prize: endowed in 1901 by F. T. Ellison, 1873, and his sister, Mrs. C. H. Ocumpaugh, in memory of their father, N. B. Ellison. The prize has been awarded to the man in the senior class who has submitted the best essay on a subject in Political Science.

The Edward Mott Moore Scholarship: offered annually since 1902 by Dr. Richard Mott Moore [1877] in memory of his father, Dr. Edward Mott Moore. The scholarship provides the tuition of one student for one summer session at the Marine Biological Laboratory at Woods Hole, Mass.

The Chester Dewey Scholarship: offered annually since 1902 by Dr. Charles A. Dewey, 1861, in memory of his father, Professor Chester Dewey. The scholarship provides the tuition of one student for one summer session at the Marine Biological Laboratory at Woods Hole, Mass.

The Susan B. Anthony Prize: offered annually from 1904 to 1907 by the New York State Women's Suffrage Association, to the member of the junior or senior class who has submitted the best essay on a subject connected with the question of women's suffrage.

The Whittlesey Prize: offered for the year 1905-6 by Mr. Mills Whittlesey, 1880, for excellence in contributions by regular writers for the student paper, The Campus.

The Scholarship Prize for Athletes: offered annually from 1905 to 1909 by Grant Hugh Browne (from 1905-1907) and Mr. William Collins Sheppard (from 1905-1909) of the class of 1885, for the college athletes whose scholarship for the year had been the highest.

The Wile Prizes in Biology: offered annually since 1908 by Dr. Ira S. Wile, 1898, for proficiency in elementary biology.

The principal departure in this edition from the former ones will be found in the addition of the names of former students who did not graduate so far as we have been able to trace them. The record of such non-graduates is far from complete. It seemed best, however, to incorporate only the names for which we have been able to secure recent and definite information. Alumni who note the omission of names of former classmates, and who can give us information concerning them will do us a favor by communicating with us at the earliest moment. It is our desire to keep our records as accurate and as complete as possible.

The information incorporated in the following records is for the most part that furnished by the men themselves, on the blank forms sent out from time to time by the University. The records printed in the Catalogue of 1900 have been thoroughly revised, and all available sources of information have been used to supplement that furnished on our blank forms. Of these supplementary sources the chief have been:

The original records of the University.

The previous catalogues of the University, both annual and general.

The publications of the college organizations, including the Campus, Interpres, etc.

The catalogues of the various Greek-letter fraternities.

The general catalogues of other colleges and of theological seminaries, principally those of Colgate University, Brown University and of the Rochester Theological Seminary.

Who's Who in America, and other standard encyclopædias of biography.

An earnest effort has been made to secure the correct address of every alumnus, and of so many non-graduates as we have been able to find, but where the present address of any graduate is not known the "last known address" has been given. Nongraduates whose address is unknown, are not included.

Conciseness has made necessary the frequent omission of the word university, where it will readily be understood. In references to places where no state is indicated, New York should always be understood. The University of Rochester is abbreviated U. of R.; the Rochester Theological Seminary, R. T. S.; H. S. signifies High School; and U. S., Union School.

The asterisk (*) throughout the catalogue denotes the death of the person in connection with whose name it is used. In the index a dagger (†) marks the name of a non-graduate.

This catalogue contains the names of 1656 alumni, 133 alumnae, a total of 1789 graduates; 525 non-graduate men, 55 non-graduate women, a total of 580 nongraduates; which gives a total of 2369 students whose names are here recorded. The whole number of honorary graduates is 195; of these 134 are deceased, while 61 are still living. Rochester graduates (and non-graduates) who have received honorary degrees from their alma mater are not included among the "honorary graduates." Such honorary degrees are indicated under their recipients' names in the body of the catalogue.

The records contained in this catalogue give the following statistics relating to the occupations and positions held by the various graduates of the University. The figures presented show a total larger than the full number of graduates, for the reason that in many cases a man may have been successively engaged in different pursuits, e. g. the same man may have been a teacher, a lawyer, and in business. The non-graduates have not been included in compiling these statistics.

In conclusion it may be said that much diligence has been used to reduce the errors in this issue of our General Catalogue to a minimum. Many which unavoidably crept into the edition of 1900 have here been corrected. We are well aware, however, that this work will also disclose errors. For information which will correct these errors we shall be very grateful.

It is both just and most pleasant to acknowledge in this place the uncommon efficiency and persistency in the completion of this book, of the Recorder of the University, Miss Agnes E. Smith, without whose untiring efforts this catalogue could not have been issued. To her all corrections and additional information should be addressed.

It is our earnest hope that these records may be of service in bringing old friends into closer fellowship, in reviving friendships which distance of time and place have interrupted, and in quickening happy memories of college days.
